

Social Science Research Methods

HKU Postgraduate Summer School

Credit-bearing Research Methodology Courses

July 30 – August 24, 2012

HKU Postgraduate Summer School: Social Science Research Methods is designed to expose postgraduate students and researchers to advanced methodologies for conducting social science research. Covering both qualitative and quantitative techniques, the courses offer students and researchers a unique opportunity to meet leading scholars in their areas, to develop professional networks and to broaden their set of research skills.

Qualitative Research Methods

5-day Introductory (US$800)

2-day Intermediate (US$400)

Quantitative Research Methods

5-day Introductory (US$800)

2-day Intermediate (US$400)

Structural Equation Modeling with LISREL

4-day Introductory (US$800)

4-day Intermediate (US$800)

Accommodation: US$200 for 1 week

Application Deadlines:

May 15, 2012 (for overseas applicants)

June 15, 2012 (for local applicants)

Enquiries: ssrm@hku.hk

20%
discount
for all local RPg students

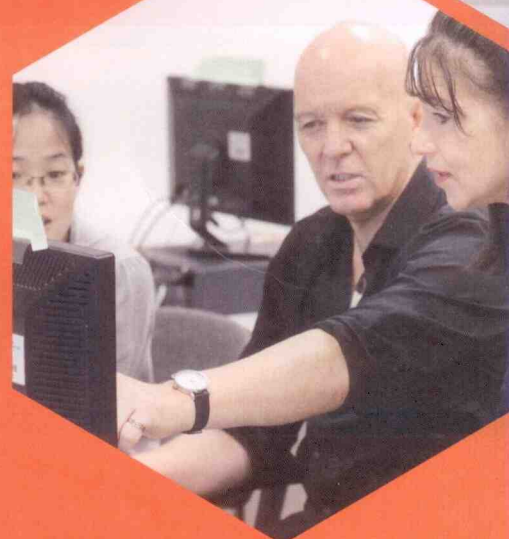

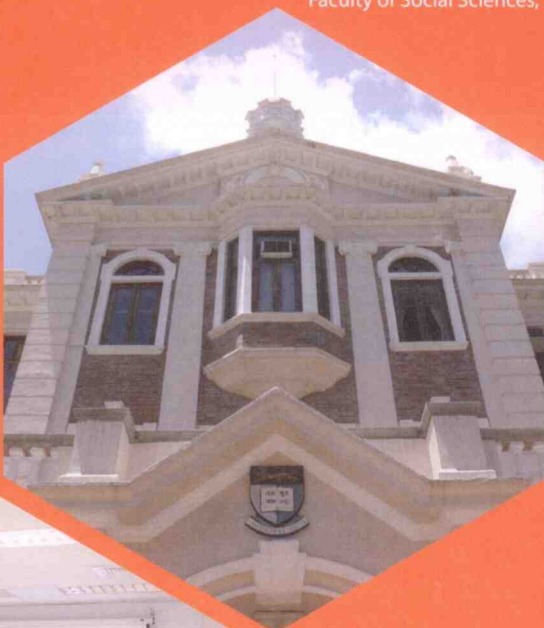

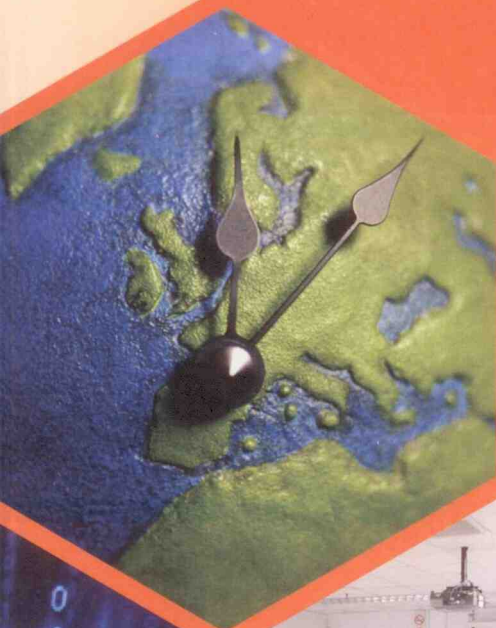

Social Sciences Research Centre
Faculty of Social Sciences
The University of Hong Kong

www.hku.hk/socsc/ssrm

SSRM covers both quantitative and qualitative methods to provide a well-rounded introduction to research methods.

Professor John Bacon-Shone
Associate Dean (Knowledge Exchange)
Faculty of Social Sciences, The University of Hong Kong

The cross-cultural exchanges, rigorous coursework and location in a global city make the experience excellent value.

James Cocks
Columbia University, USA

